Planning Expenses

Individual costs vary according to course of study, type of housing, transportation, resident or nonresident status, room and board, and personal expenses. The Financial Aid and Scholarships Office has developed sample budgets to assist you in your financial planning. Allowable expenses are determined from University budgets calculated to permit students to participate fully in normal University life. The budgets are reviewed annually to reflect changes in costs and federal and state regulations.

changes in education-related costs in the Salt Lake City area.

Federal student aid consists of grants, loans, and work-study, and is awarded on the basis of need. Some loans not based on need are available. Federal Pell Grants, ACG, SMART, TEACH, and Federal Stafford Loans are available throughout the award year, depending upon student eligibility. Funds for all other programs are limited, and are generally awarded to students who complete the application process by the on-time completion date. Detailed information on these programs, eligibility requirements, and deadlines are addressed in this section. More information about financial aid is available on the Web at www.sa.utah.edu/finance. General information is also available in the 2010-11 Guide to Federal Student Aid, from the U.S. Department of Education (available at the Financial Aid and Scholarships office).

Eligibility

A student must meet the following criteria in order to be considered eligible for federal financial aid:

- Be admitted to the University of Utah as a degree-seeking student.
- Be enrolled for the minimum number of credit hours, depending on the aid program (see program descriptions).
- Maintain the standards for Satisfactory Academic Progress (see p. 4).
- Have a high school diploma or GED.
- Be a U.S. citizen, permanent resident, or eligible non-citizen.
- Be registered with Selective Service, if applicable.
- Not owe a repayment of any federal aid to a school previously attended.
- Not be in default on a federal student loan.

Applying for Aid

In addition to meeting the eligibility criteria listed above, students must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) for each year that aid is desired. Listed below is an option for submitting the FAFSA, as well as instructions on completing the application.

- FAFSA on the Web, www.fafsa.ed.gov, is the preferred method for submitting the FAFSA. Applying through the Internet may save weeks in processing time.

Tips in Completing the Application

- University of Utah Title IV institutional code: 003675
- University of Utah Financial Aid address: 201 S. 1460 E., Rm. 105, Salt Lake City, UT 84112-9055.
- Follow the instructions on the FAFSA application.
- Make sure all information is entered correctly on your application, particularly your Social Security number.
- Make sure all required signatures are provided on the application. If you file FAFSA on the Web, you must send in the signature page within 14 days of submitting your FAFSA.
- Do not send tax documents or other materials with your application or signature page.

Additional Applications

The University of Utah has an online institutional application for financial aid (UFORM) that can be completed online at the following Web site: www.financialaid.utah.edu.

After the Application Is Received

The following provides guidance on how processing continues after you applied. It also helps to become familiar with some of the acronyms used in financial aid.

- The Student Aid Report (SAR).
- The Expected Family Contribution (EFC). The EFC is the amount that the federal government expects you and your family to contribute toward meeting the cost of your education. Your EFC indicates your eligibility for a Federal Pell Grant and is used in calculating your eligibility for other need-based aid programs. The EFC is also listed on your SAR.

Award Letters and Missing Information Letters

The University of Utah will automatically receive an electronic copy of your application information, as long as you listed our institution as one of your choices on your FAFSA. Once you are an admitted student, we will begin determining your eligibility for federal and state aid programs.

Once awards are made, you will receive an e-mail through your UMail account with instructions to access the Web, where you can view your conditional award letter. You can complete your award letter on-line. If you choose to complete a paper award letter, we ask you to print the award letter, complete the necessary information, and mail or fax it to the Financial Aid and Scholarships office. The FAX number is 801-585-6350. Award notifications are sent early in the processing cycle, to allow the student to budget for the academic year. However, as processing continues, the award may be subject to change. You will be informed of any award changes which may occur, as well as the reason for those changes. In case we require additional information, we will inform you by email.

Verification

Certain applicants are requested to provide documents to verify information reported on the FAFSA. Although a comment on your SAR may indicate that you have been selected for verification, only those applicants who receive a request from the U of U need to submit the following documents:

- Verification Form (IVF)
- Tax Forms. Submit a signed copy of your 2010 federal income tax return. If you are married but filed separately, submit a signed copy of your spouse’s return, even if you were not married in 2010. If you are a dependent student, submit a copy of your parents’ 2010 federal income tax return. If you do not have a copy of these forms, you may submit a signed federal tax return transcript, which you request from the IRS.
- W-2 forms. Submit a copy of all W-2 forms corresponding to the requested tax returns, as explained above. Duplicate copies of W-2 forms may be requested from your employer(s).

Staff in the Financial Aid and Scholarships office will review the documents you submit. We will notify you of any changes affecting your aid eligibility.

Dates and Deadlines

January 1, 2012: Submit your FAFSA or Renewal FAFSA after this date.

April 1, 2012 On-time Completion date: In order for you to be considered an on-time filer, the federal processor must receive your FAFSA, including your signature page if you filed electronically, and your file must be complete in our office by this date. Students who meet this deadline are among the first to be considered for some campus-based aid programs and need-based scholarships.

The last day of your enrollment period: Deadline by which the U of U must receive the results of your FAFSA. Allow four to six weeks for the U of U to receive the results after you submit your FAFSA to the federal processor.

June 30, 2013: The deadline for the federal government to receive your FAFSA. For students attending the U of U, the deadline is valid only for students attending summer term. All other students must meet the deadline of the last day of your enrollment period.

If you have been selected for verification: The verification process, including the transmittal of any corrections, must be completed within 180 days of your last date of attendance, or by August 15, 2012, whichever comes first. To allow verification to be completed, students should submit all verification materials at least 30 days prior to the last day of enrollment.

If you have been awarded a Stafford Loan: All eligibility requirements must be met, and your loan must be certified no later than the last day of your enrollment period.

Awarding of Aid

- Federal Pell Grant: Students are first considered for Pell Grant eligibility. (See p. 5)
- Other grant aid: After Pell Grant eligibility is determined, students are considered for other federal and state grants. These grants are awarded on the basis of need, and are restricted by funding availability.
- Work-Study programs and Federal Perkins Loans: After eligibility for grants has been determined, additional awards are made, according to the student’s preference as reported on the FAFSA. These awards are made on the basis of need, and are restricted by funding availability.
- Stafford Loan (subsidized and unsubsidized): After eligibility for all other programs has been considered, Stafford eligibility is determined. Students with remaining need are awarded a subsidized loan; all other students are considered for an unsubsidized loan. Funding availability does not restrict these programs.
- Annual award limits apply to aid programs. See more detailed information under each program listed in this bulletin, or refer to the Guide to Federal Student Aid.

Disbursing Aid

Most federal financial aid is awarded for fall and spring semesters. A student attending summer term will be awarded only for remaining Pell eligibility, if any. The student must request in advance to receive any remaining Federal Stafford award.

Summer applications are generally available in March of the applicable year.
- A student must meet all eligibility requirements in order to receive a disbursement of financial aid.
- Federal and state aid is credited to a student’s tuition account at the University, toward payment of any existing allowable charges, such as tuition and fees.
- If your awards are higher than your charges, you should receive a remainder check in the mail at the address you have given the Registrar, within 14 days of the date financial aid has credited your account at the University. If you choose to have your reimbursement transferred electronically to your bank account, please complete a direct deposit application available at the Income Accounting and Student Loan Services Office, or online through the Campus Information Services.
- If your awards are insufficient to pay all of your charges, you need to pay the remaining amount by the published tuition deadline.
- If a student establishes eligibility prior to the beginning of a term, aid will usually disburse to the student’s account at the end of the first day of school.
- If a student establishes eligibility after the beginning, but before the end of a term, disbursement of aid will occur when all eligibility requirements are met.
- If a student does not establish eligibility until after the end of a term, regulations regarding late disbursements will apply. Students in this situation are advised to contact a financial aid counselor.
- For questions regarding refund checks, and direct deposit, please contact the Income Accounting Office at 801-581-7344.
- For questions regarding disbursement of federal financial aid, please contact the Financial Aid and Scholarships office at 801-581-6211.

Withdrawals and Refunds

Students who consider dropping or withdrawing from classes are urged first to meet with a financial aid counselor to determine how aid eligibility may be affected.

Information concerning tuition refunds is contained in the Class Schedule under “Refund Policies,” or available through the Income Accounting Office at 801-581-7344.
Withdrawals will affect negatively a student’s satisfactory academic progress calculation. See information below for details.

Instructions on withdrawing from the University are obtainable from the Registrar’s Office, 801-581-5808, or at www.sa.utah.edu/regist. Only the Registrar’s Office may officially withdraw a student from the University.

Returning Aid to Federal Programs
Regulations require a student’s eligibility for aid to be recalculated whenever a student withdraws from the University, either officially or unofficially. The recalculation determines the amount of aid a student has “earned,” by prorating according to the percent of the term completed before withdrawing. For example, a student who withdraws, completing only 30 percent of the term, will have “earned” only thirty (30) percent of original aid eligibility. A student who completes more than sixty (60) percent of the term is considered to have “earned” one hundred percent of his or her aid eligibility.

A repayment of aid is required when the actual amount of aid disbursed is greater than the amount earned, as determined by the recalculation. The responsibility for returning unearned aid is allocated between the University and the student. The institution returns the unearned portion of aid applied toward institutional costs (tuition, fees, on-campus room and board); the student returns the remainder. The Financial Aid and Scholarships office will send to the student a notice listing the aid program(s), and amount(s), for which a return of funds is required. Any amount to be returned to a loan program may be repaid according to the terms of the promissory note. Any amount to be returned to a grant program will be partially protected. If a student owes a grant repayment, the University may return the funds to the applicable program which may result in a bill due to the University. In addition, a student may be billed for any aid which was applied toward institutional costs, but which was returned by the institution to the federal government as a result of a student’s withdrawal. (The law assumes that financial aid disbursements are applied first toward institutional costs.)

If less aid was disbursed than was earned, the student may receive a late disbursement for the difference. The student will be given thirty days after withdrawing to submit any missing documents to the Financial Aid Office. The late disbursement provision is limited to students who completed less than sixty (60) percent of the term, completed the verification process, and had been awarded aid or had a loan certified prior to the date of withdrawal.

Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAT)
Financial aid is contingent upon continued satisfactory progress toward a degree or certificate. The academic progress of students is monitored at the end of every semester.

Definitions of Completed and Attempted Credits
• A course is considered attempted, but not completed if a grade of I, E, EU, W/D, NC, T, or blank is assigned to that course. A repeated course is also considered attempted, but not completed.
• A course is considered completed if a grade of at least a D- is received, or if a CR grade is assigned.
• Audited courses are not acceptable for financial aid purposes.

The SAT standards are listed below, as well as requirements for reinstating aid for students who did not maintain those standards.

Minimum Cumulative GPA Requirement
• Students must maintain a minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.0.
• If aid is lost, it may be reinstated, once a student regains a minimum cumulative grade point average of 2.0.

Maximum Time Frame to Earn a Degree
• Undergraduate students are allowed 183 attempted credit hours.
• Second bachelor’s students are allowed 61 attempted credit hours.
• Master’s candidates are allowed 4 years from entry into a master’s program.
• Ph.D. candidates are allowed 7 years from entry into a doctoral program.
• Aid may be reinstated by graduating from one degree-seeking program and entering a new one.

Aggregate Completion Rate
• Students must complete at least 67 percent of all attempted credits at the University of Utah and transfer credits. (The calculation for graduate students excludes any course work taken as an undergraduate.)
• Aid may be reinstated once a student has completed a sufficient number of credit hours to raise his or her aggregate completion rate to 67 percent.

Appeals Process
Students have the right to appeal any decision made by the Financial Aid and Scholarships Office. However, the decision of the appeals committee is final, and no exceptions can be made for requests in violation of the federal and state regulations, which govern financial aid. To complete an appeal, use the official appeal request form, available online at www.sa.utah.edu/finance under printable forms.

SAT Standard Violations
• If you believe that there were exceptional circumstances beyond your control, which caused you to violate one or more of the standards listed, you have the right to submit a written appeal. Such circumstances include the death of a family member, or serious illness or injury to the student or an immediate family member. The appeal must include supporting documentation and be submitted on an official appeal form.

Unusual Circumstances Affecting Financial Need
• If you or your family have unusual circumstances (such as loss of employment or major medical expenses) that might affect your need for student financial aid, we invite you to discuss your circumstances with a financial aid counselor. The counselor can determine whether your circumstances warrant special consideration, and will provide you with the forms necessary to submit an appeal.

Study Abroad, ISEP, and NSE Programs
• Financial aid is available to most qualified students who wish to participate on a University-approved study abroad program. Students on ISEP or NSE programs may also qualify for aid.
• Students must meet the same eligibility requirements as do students studying on the University campus. Students are encouraged to visit with a financial aid counselor at least 90 days prior to departure to ensure that all necessary information is collected and on file with the Financial Aid and Scholarships office.
• For information on University-approved study abroad programs, contact the Study Abroad Office at 801-581-5849.
Required Information Concerning Drug Abuse

The Alcohol and Drug Education Center provides information and assistance to students concerning drug and alcohol abuse prevention. Please contact their office at 801-581-7776 or visit their Web site at www.sa.utah.edu/ade for information concerning:

- Standards of conduct that prohibit the unlawful possession, use, distribution of drugs and alcohol.
- Description of the legal sanctions for violation of the above.
- Description of the health risks associated with the use of illicit drugs and alcohol.
- Description of drug and alcohol counseling, treatment, or rehabilitation programs available to students or employees.
- Statements concerning the sanctions imposed on students and employees for violation of the standards of conduct.

Types of Financial Aid

GRANTS

A grant is money that does not have to be repaid. It is awarded as a means of partially meeting a student’s demonstrated need.

Federal Pell Grant

Application—Submit the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) or Renewal FAFSA and indicate on the application that you want your information sent to the University of Utah (step 6 of the application). The Pell Grant is the foundation of all need-based aid. Application for the Pell Grant is required before additional aid can be considered.

Teacher Education Assistance for College and Higher Education (TEACH)

Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (FSEOG)

Utah Education Fund (UEF)

Higher Education Success Stipend Program (HESSP)

Need Based Tuition Assistance Grant (NBTAG)

Federal Work-Study (FWS)

For all grants listed above, please refer to the Financial Aid and Scholarships homepage, www.financialaid.utah.edu, and click on Financial Aid Award Information, for further explanations.

Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) Grant

For all grants listed above, please refer to the Financial Aid and Scholarship homepage, www.sa.utah.edu/finance, and click on Financial Aid Award Information, for further explanations.

Students who are at least one-fourth American Indian, Eskimo, or Aleut, as recognized by a tribal group served by the Bureau of Indian Affairs, may apply for a BIA grant. The award amount is based on financial need and availability of funds from the student’s area agency. If you qualify for a BIA grant, check with the Financial Aid and Scholarships office for application requirements. Most tribal agencies require that a need analysis be done before funds are awarded. The need analysis is performed by the Financial Aid and Scholarships office, and it requires the information the student provides on the FAFSA. Therefore, each student desiring such funds to aid in his/her attendance at the University of Utah must submit the FAFSA and have the information released to the University of Utah.

In addition, students should keep in mind that they might be asked to document information provided on the FAFSA.

LOANS

The University may reject loan applications on the basis of poor credit, or for other reasons as specified in federal regulations. Financial aid administrators may decline to certify loans, or may certify loans for lesser amounts, provided they document the reasons and notify the student in writing.

Maximum repayment period is 10 years.

Special Conditions—An annual orientation and an exit interview are required of HPL/PCL borrowers.

DEFERMENT, FORBEARANCE, AND CANCELLATION OF STUDENT LOANS

Under certain conditions, and as long as your loan is not in default, repayment of the loan may be deferred (postponed), or you may be granted forbearance or cancellation of the loan. Each of the loan programs has slightly different rules guiding these exceptions. If you have questions about the terms of your federal loans, repayment obligations, deferment, or cancellation, check with the organization or institution which made the loan or which holds it. Only that organization or institution can make decisions concerning your loan.

Deferment:

Federal Direct Stafford Loans: Deferments are not automatic but must be requested in writing from the organization which holds your loan, and documentation to support that request must be provided. Principal and interest will be deferred for subsidized Stafford Loans, but the student is responsible for paying the interest on an unsubsidized Stafford Loan.

Federal Perkins Loans: Deferments are not automatic but must be requested in writing from your institution. The promissory note issued at the time of disbursement delineates available conditions of deferment.

The rules guiding deferment of Nursing Student Loans and Health Professions Loans are similar to those guiding Stafford Student Loans.

Forbearance:

Forbearance may be granted in the form of a temporary cessation of payments, an extension of the repayment period, or the making of smaller payments than previously scheduled. Interest will usually accrue during the period in which forbearance is granted. Under special circumstances, forbearance may be granted when the borrower does not fully qualify for deferment. Students apply for forbearance in writing to the organization or school holding their loans.

Cancellation:

Federal Direct Stafford Loans and Federal Perkins Loans: Under certain conditions (for example, teaching or nursing at a designated institution), cancellation is possible. Students with Federal Stafford Loans should check with the organization holding their loan; students with Federal Perkins Loans should check with the school which made the loan.

For rules guiding forbearance and cancellation of Nursing Student Loans and Health Professions Loans, check with the organization that holds your loan.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Scholarships are provided by the University, alumni, and private donors and are awarded on the basis of academic excellence and promise of future achievement. Financial need is an additional factor for some scholarship awards. Selection of recipients is usually made by committee.

The University of Utah awards merit-based scholarships and scholarships based on financial need to resident and nonresident entering freshmen and transfer students, as well as to continuing University of Utah students. However, the Scholarships office at the University of Utah subscribes to the national standard of not awarding scholarships/grants to students who have already earned an undergraduate degree. Scholarships or tuition waivers listed in this bulletin are reserved for undergraduate students who have not yet earned a baccalaureate degree, unless indicated otherwise.

Eligibility for academic scholarships for students entering college from high school is based on the following: High school grade point average (GPA) for grades nine through eleven, and scores on the American College Test (ACT) or the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT). (The University prefers ACT scores but will accept SAT scores.) The ACT and SAT are administered at or near high schools in Utah and other states. Students applying for scholarships should take this test in the spring of their junior year or, at the latest, by the December test date of their senior year.
Four-year renewable scholarships must be applied for during the senior year of high school by February 1. Consideration will not be given in subsequent years, even if the student is an entering freshman.

Scholarship applications from students already in college, including transfer students, are evaluated on the basis of available funds. A four-point scale is used to determine the cumulative GPA. In addition, work submitted on some other scale is standardized to the four-point scale by the Admissions Office.

Scholarships that consist of tuition waivers (e.g., the Honors at Entrance Scholarship) are awarded for two semesters per academic year, namely fall and spring. In addition, students may utilize their scholarships during summer terms if they enroll full time (12 hours); however, no student may receive a tuition waiver for more than eight semesters. Students on tuition waiver scholarships are required to take a minimum of 12 hours per semester. Incompletes, repeated hours, withdrawals, correspondence courses, and audited hours are not acceptable for renewal of scholarships.

In special circumstances, the University will, if necessary, defer scholarships for both humanitarian and academic purposes. Humanitarian leaves of absence are granted for a period of up to two years. An academic leave of absence may be granted for one year, apart from humanitarian service, as long as the former is part of a student's academic program and endorsed by the student's department chair.

Students must submit a written request to the Financial Aid and Scholarships Office at least 60 days before start of the semester, during which the deferral begins. Scholarships cannot be deferred for attendance at other institutions, except for University of Utah study abroad programs.

Students may receive only one University of Utah tuition waiver scholarship. In the case a student receives more than one such scholarship, it will be necessary to indicate a preference for one and to decline all others.

Applying for Scholarships

Scholarship application deadlines are as follows: Merit, leadership, and diversity scholarships: Freshmen, February 1; Transfer Students, April 1.

The departmental scholarship application deadline for all students is generally February 1. Some departments awarding departmental scholarships use a deadline other than February 1. For specific deadlines, refer to the individual scholarship listings under the “Departmental Scholarships” heading or call the departmental contact listed. Deadline for scholarships based on financial need for all students is March 15.

All scholarship applicants must have completed the application process for admission to the University of Utah by their scholarship application deadline. December 1, is the preferred filing date for admission to the University.

CAUTION: Please note that processing of your scholarship application depends on interface with the Admissions Office. Consequently, please ensure that both Scholarship and Admission offices have your correct Social Security number and birth date.

It is the responsibility of the student to ensure that all required documents are on file at the University by the deadline. This includes the sharing of your Social Security number with the Admissions and Scholarship Offices. Incomplete or faulty applications cannot be processed.

Students who receive a scholarship, fellowship, or other financial aid administered by the University of Utah are required by state law to certify that they are eligible to receive the scholarship as a U.S. citizen or a citizen of another country who is lawfully present in the U.S. If students do not know whether they are in the U.S. lawfully, they should seek the advice of an immigration attorney before filing a scholarship/financial aid application.

Prior to the disbursement of any scholarship/financial aid, the University of Utah is required by law to verify the recipient’s citizenship status or lawful presence in the U.S. with the Department of Homeland Security (DHS). Once the University submits a student’s information to DHS for verification, this federal agency may have the legal right to share the information with other government agencies.

CHOOSING THE CORRECT APPLICATION FORM

The preferred application mode is over the Web. Please refer to www.financialaid.utah.edu for applications and detailed information. However, included at the back of this booklet are several scholarship application forms. Each form is designated for application to a particular category of scholarships. Explanations of the appropriate forms are included. Please complete the application form applicable to the scholarship(s) in which you are interested.

General Scholarships

Resident and nonresident high school seniors, who will be entering freshmen and who are applying for merit and/or leadership and/or diversity scholarships must use the Application for General (Freshman) Scholarships form to apply for non-departmental scholarships.

Departmental Scholarships

Generally, Utah resident entering freshmen, continuing University of Utah students, and transfer students use the Application for Departmental Scholarships form to apply for departmental scholarships (listed under the “Departmental Scholarships” heading elsewhere in this section). However, departmental scholarship application requirements vary; where indicated, contact the department directly for special application materials and instructions. Refer to information under the “Departmental Scholarships” heading for more details about application requirements.

(Do not use the Recommendation Form if you are applying for a merit-based scholarship only.)

Transfer Student Scholarships

Use the Application for Transfer Student Scholarships form if you are a transfer student applying for a merit and/or leadership and/or diversity scholarship.

Scholarships Based on Financial Need

Some scholarships are available to students who qualify on the basis of need as determined by the federal processor. Entering freshmen and transfer students, and continuing students (Utah resident or nonresident), may apply for these scholarships by submitting the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to the federal processor over the Web, www.fafsa.ed.gov. Also, submit the Application for Scholarships Based on Financial Need to the University of Utah Financial Aid and Scholarships Office. In addition, complete the institutional application for financial aid (UFORM), at www.acs.utah.edu/uofu/stu/UForm.
